Estate Tax Returns, 1989-1991

by Barry W. Johnson

n 1991, there were 53,576 Federal estate tax returns filed for U.S. decedents with gross estates at or above the $600,000 filing requirement, an 80 percent increase over the number filed at an equivalent threshold in 1982. These decedents had a combined total gross estate of $90.9 billion, almost 94 percent more, in real terms, than their 1982 counterparts. The group of U.S. decedents with gross assets of at least $5 million changed the most, increasing in number by 137 percent, while the gross assets grew by almost 143 percent between 1982 and 1991. Some of this growth is attributable to a tax law change which took effect in 1982, allowing an unlimited deduction from gross estate for bequests to a surviving spouse, thus potentially increasing the wealth of decedents who were widows or widowers.

Background

The Federal estate tax is a tax on the transfer of assets from a decedent's estate to its beneficiaries and is therefore levied on the estate. Beginning in 1977, the tax on yearly gifts greater than $10,000 made by living individuals and transfers made by a decedent's estate have been combined into a single tax, with a single lifetime tax credit, known as the unified credit. Since 1987, this credit has been $192,800, which is equivalent to the tax on $600,000 worth of assets, creating, in effect, a filing threshold of $600,000 [1]. Tax rates are graduated and ranged from 16 to 55 percent in 1989-1991. Relevant changes to the estate tax law are discussed in the appendix to this article.

The executor of an estate has up to 9 months after a decedent's death to file a return; a 6-month extension is available beyond that. Thus, returns filed in a particular year will include some returns filed for decedents dying in that year, but will be primarily for decedents who died in the previous year. There will also be a small number of returns for decedents who died in earlier years.

Because the returns filed in a given year represent decedents who died in many different years, the resulting data reflect different economic conditions and may be subject to different tax law environments. It is, therefore, useful to study decedents who died in the same year, by combining returns filed over a period of several years. By concentrating on a single year of death, these limitations can be overcome.

This article presents data from returns filed in 1989-1991, focusing on decedents who died in 1989 (see Data Barry W. Johnson is an economist with the Foreign Special Projects Section. This article was prepared under the direction of Michael Alexander, Chief. Sources and Limitations). Data for the 1991 Filing Year are also presented to facilitate comparisons with past data [2]. When data from different filing years are being compared, all dollar values are converted to constant 1989 dollars (based on the decedent's year of death) in order to lessen the effects of inflation on the resulting trends [3].

1989 Decedents

There were an estimated 50,376 decedents who died in 1989 with gross estates at or above the $600,000 filing requirement. They represented approximately 2.3 percent of the total U.S. decedent population [4]. Together, their gross estates totaled almost $87.7 billion (see Figure A).

Females accounted for approximately 44 percent of the 1989 estate tax decedents and for about 40 percent of the reported gross estate. The majority, 64 percent, of them were widowed; only 24 percent were married (see Figure B). Overall, the average value of their gross estates was almost $1.6 million, slightly higher for married decedents than for those who were widowed, and much lower, $1.3 million, for the 8 percent who were single at death.

Over 66 percent of male estate tax decedents who died in 1989 were married and 22 percent were widowers. Male decedents who were married at the time of their death had an average gross estate of almost $2.0 million, while widowers had an average estate of $1.6 million. The average size of gross estate for those who were single was almost $1.8 million, significantly higher than their female counterparts.

The average age at death for male decedents was 73.8 years. This was 2.0 years higher than the national average for all U.S. male decedents in 1989. For female decedents, the average age at death was 79.9 years, again higher than the national average for women, but by only 1.3 years. These results are not surprising because it is well documented that the wealthy live longer than the general population due to factors such as safer work environments, better access to health care and better nutrition. It should also be noted that the gap between the average age of males and females for whom estate tax returns were filed, 6.1 years, was less than the 6.8 year average difference for the general population. This gap has been declining in the general population since the 1970's [5].

Although females made up a smaller portion of the total filers, estate tax returns filed for female decedents reported the largest estate tax liability, accounting for about 55 percent or almost $5 billion of the total reported for all 1989 decedents. This is attributable mainly to the use of the unlimited marital deduction to postpone payment of estate taxes until the death of the second spouse. Because female decedents lived, on average, over 6 years longer than males, their estates are most often liable for the estate tax.

Assets

Overall, investments in corporate stock made up the largest share of gross estate for decedents who died in 1989, accounting for $27.2 billion or about 31 percent (see Figure C). Of this amount, at least $7.1 billion had been invested in closely held corporations [6]. Real estate holdings accounted for almost 23 percent of the total. Investments in corporate, foreign, and Federal or State and local Government bonds amounted to almost 17 percent of these estates; tax-exempt State and local Government bonds accounted for almost 68 percent of total bond investments. Cash was the fourth largest asset category, with a total of $10.6 billion, which amounted to 12 percent of the total. The rest was distributed fairly evenly among the remaining categories. The category in Figure C labeled "other assets" includes well over $1.1 billion in art investments.

A comparison of the composition of the estates of 1989 decedents with that of 1986 decedents shows little change. The percentage of assets held as corporate stock decreased from 33.5 percent to 31.1 percent, while the portions held as bonds and cash both increased. The popularity of mutual funds among investors increased notably between 1986 and 1989, with money market and bond funds experiencing the most growth [7]. This may have contributed to the increase in the percentage of assets held as cash, since money market mutual funds are included there. The increase in the relative amount held as real estate from 21.6 to 22.6 percent continues the trend observed in studies of 1982 and 1986 decedents [8].

Alternate Valuation

Federal estate tax law provides for the "alternate valuation" of an estate in the event that there is a decline in the value of the estate within 6 months of the decedent's death. If elected, the value of all assets must be reported on the tax return at both the date-of-death and alternate values. Alternate valuation must result in a net decrease in the value of the estate, even though some individual assets may actually have a higher value at the later valuation date

Alternate valuation was elected for the estates of 4,710 decedents who died in 1989, or about 9 percent of all returns filed, lowering the value of these estates by over $500 million (see Figure D). For estates electing alternate valuation, the value of corporate and foreign bonds declined by about 19 percent, the largest change to any single asset category. The value of stock in closely held companies declined by about 13 percent. This is not surprising since many closely held corporations are small and much of their value is dependent on the reputation or skills of one or a few individuals, in this case, the skills of the decedent. It is notable that the alternate value of State and local Government bonds was actually higher, overall, than their value at the time of the decedent's death.

Deductions

As in the past, bequests to a surviving spouse accounted for the largest single deduction from total gross estate for 1989 decedents (see Figure E). In general, bequests made to a decedent's spouse are fully deductible from total gross estate. This deduction accounted for 79.1 percent of the total for estates with no tax liability and almost 50 percent of the deductions for taxable estates (i.e., those reporting a tax liability). The second most significant deduction was that for bequests to charities, accounting for 10.6 percent of total deductions for nontaxable estates and 22.5 percent for those reporting taxes. The category in Figure E labeled "other" includes deductions of $242 million for funeral expenses, $656 million for estate administration expenses and over $1.6 billion (about 2 percent of total gross estate) for attorney and executor fees.

Charitable Bequests

Over 19 percent of all 1989 decedents made a charitable bequest. Estates with no tax liability reported a deduction for charitable bequests which was 7.3 percent of gross assets, in contrast to a deduction for charitable bequests of just 5.9 percent reported on returns showing a tax liability [9]. The fact that estates in the latter group did not elect to make a larger charitable bequest, thereby reducing their estate tax liability, suggests that tax incentives provide only a part of the motivation for charitable giving [10]. Single decedents were the most likely to make charitable bequests; almost 55 percent of single female decedents and more than one-third of single male decedents made a bequest to charitable organizations (see Figure F). Over 29 percent of widowed females, the third most philanthropic group, made a charitable bequest. In contrast, only about 8 percent of married male or female decedents included charities among the beneficiaries of their estates. These findings are indicative of the competition that can exist between family obligations and philanthropic goals.

Single decedents who made charitable bequests gave almost 44 percent of their net worth to charities. Single males, giving 49 percent of their net worth, were the most generous. Married decedents made the smallest bequests, giving only 11 percent of their net worth to charities. In general, male decedents gave a larger share of their net worth to charities than did females.

As a group, 1989 decedents gave almost $5.8 billion to charities. Almost 60 percent of those making charitable gifts included religious organizations among their beneficiaries, making them the most frequently remembered group. However, the size of the individual bequests were, on average, smaller than those given to other organizations. The largest share of bequests from female decedents (nearly $1 billion) went to organizations involved in education, medical care or scientific research (see Figure G). Male decedents favored private foundations, bequeathing them over $1 billion. These are organizations established by the decedent or other family members which are usually involved in a variety of philanthropic activities. They are becoming increasingly popular because they afford the donor more control over the uses of gifts and often create a more lasting legacy [11].

Filing Year Data

Between 1982 and 1991, the number of estate tax returns filed for U.S. decedents with gross estates of at least $650,000 increased by almost 81 percent [12,13]. The graph in Figure H shows the number of returns plotted along with gross assets, by filing year [14]. The difference in the slope of the two lines indicates that the value of assets held by this group has grown faster than the number of filers. A closer look at this increase shows that the number of filers with gross estates of less than $5 million increased by about 80 percent between 1982 and 1991, as did the total value of the assets, meaning that most of the increase in total assets was due to the increased number of filers above this level of wealth (see Figure I). On the other hand, the number of returns filed for decedents with at least $5 million in gross assets grew over 137 percent while the combined value of the assets increased about 143 percent over the same period.

In contrast to the large increase in both the number and wealth of estate tax decedents during the period 1982-1991, the real value of tax generated by their estates rose by a more modest 30 percent (see Figure J). This relatively small change was due to several significant modifications to the estate tax law which took effect during the same period. These included the introduction of the unlimited deduction for assets left to a surviving spouse and the lowering of the top tax rate from 70 to 55 percent, and an increase in the unified credit.

Much of the growth in both the number of filers and the total wealth they held is partially attributable to the boom in both the real estate and stock markets during this period. Another important factor may be the effect of the unlimited deduction from gross estate allowed for bequests to a surviving spouse. This law encourages a decedent spouse to leave the bulk of his or her estate to the surviving spouse, creating more, wealthier widows and widowers, thus increasing the number of returns subsequently filed after the death of the surviving spouse. Total assets owned by the U.S. household sector, as measured by the Federal Reserve Board's Flow of Funds accounts, grew by an inflation-adjusted 40 percent during 1982-1991. While it is not surprising that the value of assets owned by individuals at the upper end of the wealth distribution would increase at a rate higher than that of the general population, some of the difference is certainly due to changes in bequest patterns.

Summary

Of the estimated 50,376 decedents who died in 1989 with gross assets at or above the $600,000 filing requirement, 44 percent were female. While they owned only about 40 percent of the gross assets, their estates incurred almost 55 percent of the tax liability for all 1989 decedents. Female decedents had an average age at death of 79.9 years, 6.1 years more than that of male decedents.

Investments in corporate stock made up the largest share of gross estate for 1989 decedents, with real estate holdings accounting for the second largest share of the total. Estates of 1989 decedents held more of their assets as bonds and cash than did those of 1986 decedents. Taxexempt State and local Government bonds accounted for the largest share of total bond holdings.

The number of estate tax returns filed for decedents with estates above a constant dollar threshold ($650,000) increased 80 percent between 1982 and 1991. The number of estates with gross assets of $5 million or more increased by 137 percent while the value of the assets grew by 143 percent. Because of significant revisions to the tax code, the relative amount of tax liability reported on all Federal estate tax returns increased by only 30 percent over the same period.

Data Sources and Limitations

The data presented in this article are estimates based on samples of Federal estate tax returns filed in 1989, 1990 and 1991. These samples were limited to returns filed for decedents who died after 1981 with total gross estates of at least $500,000. (A $500,000 threshold was used in order to include any delinquent returns filed for decedents dying before 1987.) The sample for the 1989 Filing Year included 7,317 returns out of a total population of 48,097. In 1990, the year in which most returns for 1989 decedents were filed, 15,043 returns were sampled out of a total of 53,228. There were 6,991 returns out of 56,512 sampled during the 1991 Filing Year. Of the 26,351 returns sampled during 1989-1991, there were 17,571 returns filed for 1989 decedents.

Estate tax returns were statistically sampled while the returns were being processed for administrative purposes, but before any audit examination. Thus, returns were selected on a flow basis, using a stratified random probability sampling method, whereby the sample rates were preset based on the desired sample size and an estimate of the population. The design had three stratification variables: year of death, age at death and size of total gross estate. For the 1989-1991 Filing Years, the year of death variable was separated into two categories: 1989 year of death and non-1989 year of death. Age was disaggregated into five categories: under 40, 40 under 50, 50 under 65, 65 under 75, and 75 and older (including age unknown). Total gross estate was limited to three categories: $500,000 under $1 million, $1 million under $5 million, and $5 million or more. Sampling rates ranged from 7 to 100 percent; returns for over half of the strata were selected at the 100 percent rate.

An examination of returns filed between 1982 and 1991 revealed that almost 99 percent of all returns for decedents who die in a given year are filed by the end of the second calendar year following the year of death. Further, the decedent's age at death and the length of time between the decedent's date of death and the filing of an estate tax return are related. It was therefore possible to predict the percentage of unfiled returns within age strata, using an ordinary least squares regression model. The sample weights were adjusted accordingly, in order to account for returns for 1989 decedents not filed by the end of the 1991 Filing Year.

Explanation of Selected Terms

Brief definitions of some of the terms used in this article are provided below:

Adjusted taxable estate.—Adjusted taxable estate was equal to the sum of taxable estate and adjusted taxable gifts.

Adjusted taxable gifts.—Certain gifts made during the life of an individual who died before 1982 were automatically included in the gross estate. However, for the estate of an individual who died after 1981, these gifts were not generally included in the gross estate. Instead, they were added to the taxable estate, creating the "adjusted taxable estate" for the purposes of determining the "estate tax before credits."

Annuities.—These were investments for which a person received a fixed income for a set period of time. They include assets related to pensions or retirement, such as equity in a Keogh self-employed retirement plan or in individual retirement arrangements (IRA's).

Bequests to a surviving spouse.—This was equal to the value of property interests passing from the decedent to the surviving spouse and was taken as a deduction from the "total gross estate."

Closely held stock.—This is stock in any corporation which was not traded on a public stock exchange. It most often refers to a small corporation in which a decedent exercised a great deal of control as evidenced by a large percentage of ownership. It is shown separately because it is often difficult for executors to value such stock since it is not frequently traded and because the value of these companies is often very dependent on the personality or skills of their owners, and may change if the primary owner dies.

Estate tax after credits.—This was the tax liability of the estate remaining after subtraction of credits for State death taxes, foreign death taxes, taxes on prior transfers and Federal gift taxes previously paid. In addition, a "unified credit," graduated according to the year of death and a "credit" for gift taxes paid on post-1976 gifts, is allowed (see also "Unified credit").

Estate tax before credits.—This was the tax obtained by applying the graduated estate tax rates to the adjusted taxable estate reduced by the amount of Federal gift taxes previously paid.

Federal gift taxes previously paid.—Credit was allowed against the estate tax for the Federal gift tax paid on a gift made by a decedent before 1977. No credit, apart from the unified credit, was allowed for any gift tax paid on gifts made after 1976.

Lifetime transfers.—Included were two categories of gifts that, by law, had to be reported in total gross estate: gifts taking effect at death, and gifts of property in which the decedent retained some rights during his or her lifetime. (Lifetime transfers are shown in total as an information item in Tables 1 and 2; the types of property transferred are not shown separately, but are included instead in the property types comprising total gross estate.)

Net worth.—Net worth was equal to the total gross estate less mortgages and other debts.

Nontaxable returns.—Nontaxable returns were those with no estate tax liability after credits.

Other tax credits.—This is the sum of all tax credits (other than the unified credit) taken as a deduction from the estate tax before credits. Included are credits for State death taxes, foreign death taxes, Federal gift taxes and taxes on prior transfers.

Tax on prior transfers.—A tax credit was allowed for Federal estate tax paid on property received by the decedent or the estate from a transferor who died within 10 years before, or 2 years after, the decedent. The credit was intended to lessen the burden of double taxation between successive estates whose owners had died within a short period of time. Depending on the time that elapsed between the deaths, a credit was allowed for all or part of the Federal estate tax paid by the transferor's estate with respect to the transfer.

Taxable estate.—Taxable estate is the base to which the graduated Federal estate tax rates are applied in computing the estate tax before credits. Taxable estate is equal to the value of the "total gross estate" less deductions for the following: funeral and administrative expenses; casualty and theft losses; debts, mortgages, losses and other claims against the estate, including pledges to charitable organizations; bequests to the surviving spouse; and the "employee stock ownership plan" (ESOP) deduction (included in the statistics for "other expenses and losses").

Taxable returns.—Taxable returns were those with an amount of estate tax after credits.

Total gross estate. —An estate tax return was required in the case of every decedent whose gross estate at the time of death exceeded the legal filing requirement in effect for the year of death. For estate tax purposes, the gross estate included all property, or interests in property, before reduction by debts (except policy loans against insurance) and mortgages, or administrative expenses. Included in the gross estate were such items as real estate, tangible and intangible personal property, certain lifetime gifts made by the decedent, property in which the decedent had a general power of appointment, the decedent's interest in annuities receivable by the surviving beneficiary, the decedent's share in community property, life insurance proceeds (even though payable to beneficiaries other than the estate), dower or courtesy of the surviving spouse (inherited property) and, with certain exceptions, joint estates with right of survivorship and tenancies by the entirety. In this article, it almost always refers to the value of assets at the time of the decedent's death (see also "Total gross estate, alternate value" and "Total gross estate, tax purposes").

Total gross estate, alternate value.—All property included in the gross estate could be valued at one of two points in time. While the value of the gross estate at the date of death determined whether an estate tax return had to be filed, the executor of the estate had the option of valuing the estate as of the date of death or 6 months thereafter. (Any property sold, exchanged or otherwise disposed of within the 6 months was valued as of the date of the disposition.)

Total gross estate, tax purposes.—This measure is used to define the valuation method used by the decedent's executor to calculate taxable estate and, ultimately, the estate tax liability, if any. If alternate valuation was elected, this will be the alternately valued amount of gross assets, otherwise, it will be the value of all assets (see "Total gross estate") at the time of the decedent's death.

Unified credit.—The unified credit, so called because it is used for both estate and gift tax purposes, is applied as a dollar-for-dollar reduction of the estate tax. (The unified credit represents the amount of tax on that part of gross estate which is below the filing requirement.) The credit must be used to offset gift taxes on lifetime transfers made after 1976. However, to the extent it is so used, the amount of credit available at death is reduced.

- [6] Untraded or closely held stock is identified from the descriptions of assets provided by executors on the Federal estate tax return. When such descriptions are too vague (or absent) to make a reasonable determination, amounts are included in the more general "other corporate stock" category. Therefore, the estimate of "closely held stock" presented in this paper should be considered extremely conservative.

- [9] Because charitable bequests are included in deductions from gross estate, and therefore endogenous to the determination of taxable and nontaxable returns, the distinction between these groups should be viewed with caution. A generally accepted practice is to remove the deduction for charitable bequests from total deductions and then recalculate the estate tax liability in order to examine the effect of taxation on charitable giving. - [12] A constant dollar threshold of $650,000 is used for this analysis because a constant dollar $600,000 threshold actually falls below the current dollar filing threshold for decedent's dying in 1987 and 1988, thus providing incomplete information for those years. The slightly higher threshold eliminates this problem, giving a more accurate estimate of the changes from year to year. The threshold is applied to the "total gross estate" used for calculating Federal estate tax liability and may include the value of the estate at the time of the decedent's death, or its value 6 months later (see Explanation of Selected Terms, "Total gross estate, alternate value").
- [13] This analysis is limited to returns filed in 1982-1991 because Statistics of Income did not resume annual

- studies of estate tax returns until 1982. The next most recent study was done for 1977, focusing mainly on returns filed for 1976 decedents, whose estates were subject to significantly different tax laws than those in effect for returns filed during 1982-1991.
- [14] Statistics of Income samples of estate tax returns filed in 1984 and 1985 focused primarily on decedents who died in 1982. Estimates of the general population of filers in each of these years are therefore subject to considerable sampling variability.

Appendix: Tax Law Changes Affecting 1989-1991 Estate Tax Statistics

The modern estate tax has been in effect since 1916. While the tax rates and filing requirements have changed from time to time, there have been relatively few changes in the basic structure of the estate tax since its inception. The data in this article have been affected by revisions included in the Technical and Miscellaneous Revenue Act of 1988, the Revenue Reconciliation Act of 1989, and the Revenue Reconciliation Act of 1990.

Technical and Miscellaneous Revenue Act of 1988

The Technical and Miscellaneous Revenue Act of 1988 made several important changes to existing estate tax law, including clarifying and revising rules applying to the deduction for bequests to a surviving spouse, bequests to grandchildren and transfers of interests in business enterprises to family members.

Estate Freeze Rules

An "estate freeze" occurs when a person transfers a share of property to another family member which has a disproportionately large share of the potential appreciation in an enterprise, while maintaining an interest or share in the income or rights in that enterprise. A common practice is for a parent to give the common stock in a closely held corporation to a child, while the parent retains the preferred stock. The parent would pay a gift tax for the value of the common stock (usually undervalued to minimize taxes) at the time of the transfer, while maintaining control of the company and an income for life. All future appreciation in the value of the company would increase the value of the common stock, effectively "freezing" the value of the company held by the parent at its value at the time of the transfer.

The estate freeze provisions of the 1988 Act provided that whenever such a transfer is made and any interest or share in the income or rights is retained by the transferor, the value of the enterprise would be included in the transferor's estate. (Under prior law, the retained interest had to be disproportionately large for the freeze provisions to apply.) If the transferor was married, and chose to pass the retained interests to the surviving spouse, the freeze provisions would not apply until the death of the surviving spouse. In cases where a family member purchased the substantial interest from the transferor for "full and adequate consideration" using consideration (usually money) which was never acquired from the transferor, only a fraction of the value of the enterprise would be includible in the transferor's estate.

The 1988 Act provided several exceptions or "safe harbors" for business transactions which did not resemble retained life interests. The retention of "qualified debt" was one of these exceptions. In order to qualify, the debt must require fixed payment of principal and interest over a fixed term of not more than 15 years (30 years, if secured by real property). The debt could not grant voting rights, be convertible into an interest in the enterprise, nor be subordinated to the rights of general creditors. Similar exemptions existed when a transferor retained a debt incurred for the cash to start-up an enterprise, rights to purchase options or rights to sell or lease goods or property to the enterprise under certain conditions.

Other provisions of the Act pertaining to estate freezes provided for the treatment of later transfers, including transfer of the transferor's retained interest, as well as transfer of the original transferred property by the original transferee. In general, such events were treated as gifts, resulting in gift tax liability and adjustments to the value of the enterprise which would be includible in the transferor's estate.

Bequests of Property Interests to a Surviving Spouse Under previous law, no marital deduction was allowed for estate interests passed to a surviving spouse unless the surviving spouse had a terminal interest in the property, i.e., control over the transfer of the property at the time of his or her death. The 1988 Act provided a marital deduction for life interests in property for which the surviving spouse had no terminal interest, as long as it was "qualified terminal interest property" (QTIP). QTIP is property in which the spouse has sole right to all income during his or her lifetime, payable at least annually, but no power to transfer the property at death. The Act permitted the marital deduction for such property because the QTIP would be included in the surviving spouse's gross estate through the QTIP election on the decedent spouse's estate tax return.

Non-Citizen Surviving Spouses

Prior to the 1988 Act, U.S. citizens and residents were allowed an unlimited deduction for the value of most property passing to a spouse, regardless of the surviving spouse's citizenship. Under the Act, transfers to a surviving spouse who is not a U.S. citizen would not qualify for the deduction, unless the property was placed in a "qualified domestic trust" (QDT) before the due date of the decedent spouse's estate tax return.

A QDT must satisfy the following requirements under the 1988 Act:

- 1. all trustees must be U.S. citizens or domestic corporations.
- 2. the surviving spouse must be entitled to all trust income and it must be payable at least annually,
- 3. the trust must fulfill requirements to ensure that its proceeds will be subject to U.S. estate tax upon the surviving spouse's death, and
 - 4. the trust must be irrevocable.

Any distribution from the principal of the trust would be subject to estate tax as though the distributed assets had been included in the deceased spouse's estate. Likewise, if during the life of the surviving spouse a non-U.S. citizen or corporation became trustee of the QDT, the trust would be immediately subject to estate tax.

This section of the 1988 Act also provided for the inclusion of more than one-half of the value of any jointly held marital property in the estate of a decedent whose surviving spouse is not a U.S. citizen. Prior to this, only one-half of the value of such property was included in the gross estate of a decedent spouse, regardless of the actual amount of consideration provided by each spouse toward the purchase of the property. The 1988 Act removed this limitation when the spouse was not a U.S. citizen. In such cases, the included value would be based solely on the consideration supplied by the decedent spouse toward the original purchase of the property.

Generation Skipping Transfers

The 1986 Tax Reform Act contained a complete revision to the generation skipping transfer (GST) tax originally enacted in 1976. In a typical generation skipping transfer, a parent either places assets in an irrevocable trust, retaining an income interest in those assets, or provides for the creation of a testamentary trust at the time of his or her death. In either case, after the death of the parent, the transferor's children would be given a life income interest in the trust. After the death of the children, the income and principal of the trust would be passed to the original transferor's grandchildren. Assets originally placed in trust would be subject to gift or estate taxes at the time of the transfer, but would not be taxable again, until the death of the grandchildren.

The GST tax provided for the imposition of a flat rate tax each time an income interest terminated, or a distribution was made from the principal of the trust, or a grand-parent made a bequest to a grandchild whose parents were still living. The 1988 Act contained a number of clarifications and revisions to the generation skipping transfer (GST) tax as enacted by the 1986 Tax Reform Act. Most of these were brought about to ensure that the GST imposes a tax that is equivalent to the estate or gift tax that would have been imposed if the property were transferred outright to each successive generation.

Additional Provisions of the 1988 Act

- 1. Under previous law, the estate tax value of farmland could be specially valued as a farm, rather than as real estate generally. It must have been used by the decedent as a farm and must be maintained as a farm after the decedent's death. If the decedent had rented the land to a family member for farming, it would still qualify for special valuation; however, if the surviving spouse rented the land to a family member for farming after the decedent's death, it would not qualify. The 1988 Act allowed the surviving spouse to rent the farmland to a family member without violating the special use valuation provisions.
- 2. The 1988 Act required that the Internal Revenue Service update mortality tables and interest rates used to value annuities and interests for life or terms of years. The interest rate would be variable, based on the Federal midterm rate, and mortality tables were to be updated by December 31, 1989, and every 10 years thereafter.
- 3. The 1986 Tax Reform Act provided for the deduction of 50 percent of the qualified proceeds from the sale of employer securities to "employee stock ownership plans" (ESOP's) or eligible worker-owned cooperatives. The 1988 Act conformed rules governing the participation in such plans by surviving members of the decedent's family, the estate or related companies, to those applicable when a living taxpayer makes a similar sale. It also clarified the statutory period for accessing fines in the event that these rules were violated.
- 4. Loans of art work to charitable organizations would not be treated as transfers for gift tax purposes under the 1988 Act, provided that they were used in connection with the organization's tax-exempt function. The full value of such art would be included in the estate of its owner, even if it were on extended loan at the time of the owner's death.

Revenue Reconciliation Act of 1989

The Revenue Reconciliation Act of 1989 made relatively few changes to the estate tax law. The most significant change was the complete repeal of all provisions for a 50 percent deduction for sales of employer securities to ESOP's or worker-owned cooperatives. The only other significant changes dealt with revisions and clarifications to the 1988 rules regarding deductions for bequests to non-citizen spouses.

The 1989 Act revised the marital deduction by allowing for bequests to a non-citizen spouse through an irrevocable QDT, even in cases where the surviving spouse was only the life beneficiary of such a trust, without any terminal interests. It also provided that property passing to the surviving spouse would qualify for the marital deduction in the event that the non-citizen spouse became a U.S. citizen after the decedent's death, but before the decedent spouse's estate tax return had been filed, provided that the surviving spouse had been a U.S. resident at all times after the decedent's death. Finally, the 1989 Act permitted gifts from the decedent spouse to the noncitizen surviving spouse which had been used to purchase marital joint property to qualify as the surviving spouse's consideration in determining the value of such property to be included in the estate of the decedent spouse.

The 1989 Act included some modifications to the definition of a QDT. Only one trustee of the QDT needed to be a U.S. citizen, but that trustee would be required to approve all distributions. Not all of the income of the trust had to be paid to the surviving spouse, as long as the trust would qualify for a marital deduction if the surviving spouse had been a citizen. All deductions from gross estate (i.e., charitable bequests, debts and funeral expenses) were allowed when calculating estate tax on distributions from the QDT. In addition, distributions made due to hardship would not be subject to estate tax. Lastly, distributions made from the trust after a surviving spouse became a U.S. citizen would not be subject to tax as long as the surviving spouse had been a U.S. resident since the death of the decedent spouse.

Revenue Reconciliation Act of 1990

The Revenue Reconciliation Act of 1990 dealt mainly with modifications to existing rules regarding generation skipping transfers, deductions for bequests to non-citizen surviving spouses and estate freezes.

Estate Freeze Rules

The most significant estate tax consequence of the Revenue Reconciliation Act of 1990 was the repeal of the estate freeze legislation introduced in the Omnibus Budget Reconciliation Act of 1987, along with all subsequent revisions. In its place, the new Act changed gift tax rules dealing with the valuation of gifts at the time of the transfer. The value of the gift was to be calculated as the value of the enterprise minus the value of the transferor's retained interest. By establishing specific rules for the valuation of the retained interest, the 1990 Act attempted to impose more control over the valuation of gifts.

Because the value of a retained interest is often based in large part on discretionary rights as to dividends, liquidation, conversion, calls or puts, these rights were given no value under the guidelines established by the 1990 Act unless they were only exercisable at specific times and for specific amounts. If such rights were unexecuted at the time of the decedent's death, their value would be included in the decedent's gross estate, even though after death they would have no value. In general, if a decedent's family owned more than 50 percent of an entity, the 1990 rules assumed that all retained interests would be exercised at their lowest possible value.

The 1990 Act did, however, provide certain exceptions to the valuation rules, as in the case where there are readily obtainable market quotes for valuing the transferred property. Similarly, if the retained interest was substantially the same as the transferred interest, the valuation rules generally did not apply.

Non-Citizen Spouses

The 1990 Act further modified the definition of a qualified domestic trust by eliminating the requirement that the U.S. citizen trustee approve all distributions from a QDT.

Instead, it gave that trustee the right to withhold the potential amount of estate tax on such a distribution. It allowed for the payment of Federal income tax on a QDT asset (such as on capital gains) from the principal of the trust without incurring additional estate tax. It also allowed foreign and State death tax credits against estate tax due on the QDT at the death of the surviving spouse, if the property for which the credit was allowed would have been part of the gross estate of a U.S. citizen. Finally, the deduction for a QDT was disallowed if the estate tax return was filed delinquently, i.e., more than 1 year after the due date (including filing extensions).

The rule for determining the value of marital joint property includible in the decedent spouse's estate was further relaxed under the 1990 Act. Any transfer from the surviving spouse which created a joint tenancy would be treated as consideration belonging to the surviving spouse, if the transfer would have constituted a gift had the donor been a U.S. citizen.

Generation Skipping Transfers

The 1990 Act also contained two minor revisions with regard to generation skipping transfer trusts. The first was to define distributions from from the principle of the trust which were required by State law as nontaxable distributions, as long as such distributions were discretionary or pursuant to any to any State law substantially equivilant to the Uniform Gifts to Minors Act. The other was to require that the assets of a trust which terminate on the death of the beneficiary be includible in that person's gross estate in order for the trust to qualify as a generation skipping trust.
